History. Group representation theory was generalized by Richard Brauer from the 1940s to give modular representation theory, in which the matrix operators act on a vector space over a field of arbitrary characteristic, rather than a vector space over the field of real numbers or over the field of complex numbers. The structure analogous to an irreducible representation in the resulting theory ...

A tree structure or tree diagram is a way of representing the hierarchical nature of a structure in a graphical form. It is named a "tree structure" because the classic representation resembles a tree, even though the chart is generally upside down compared to an actual tree, with the "root" at the top and the "leaves" at the bottom.. A tree structure is conceptual, and appears in several forms.

We study the category whose objects are trees (with or without roots) and whose morphisms are contractions. We show that the corresponding contravariant module categories are Noetherian, and we study two natural families of modules over these categories.

For an archaeology of Minoan Society. Identifying the Principles of Social Structure JAN DRIESSEN
ABSTRACT Evans, rather than exploring Minoan social structure, seems to have taken it for granted and it is extremely rare to find discussions on the basics of Minoan society "men, women and children" in his writings.
